

ABSTRACT

The invention is a support product for hanging and holding unmounted media such as 5 photographs, postcards, index cards, and other media. The support product provides secure, repositionable, and nonpermanent support by interposing a conforming pad between the unmounted medium and the mounting surface and by engaging the mounting surface with a fastener extending outwardly from the conforming pad.